1	tomasz.klin@uwr.edu.pl	Tomasz Klin	Faculty of Social Sciences	Political Sciences	02.10.2023	11:00	Koszarowa 2/3, Political science building	25a		Each institute or department may have its own regulations, please browse their websites. In the case of courses conducted on Political science, students inform lecturers on their will to attend a given course (by personal contact on the first class or by e-mail). The attendance in the winter semester should be confirmed until the mid of October. The list of courses and lecturers will be available on the Institute's website https://politologia.uni.wroc.pl/en/Students/Schedules-winter-semester-2023 probably in the last week of September.

The full list of courses taught in the upcoming summer semester may be found at https://europeistyka.uni.wroc.pl/Students/Courses-offered-by-the-Chair . The class schedule will be uploaded very soon on www.europeanstudies.uni.wroc.pl . I strongly recommend following our social media, so you stay in the loop. https://www.facebook.com/eustudiesuwr Bearing in mind all the questions from your colleagues who were studying at our Faculty in the previous years. Let me clarify a few things. 1) Am I still able to join? Our offer remains open until the second week of the winter semester. Please, remember that you can still modify your Learning Agreement. Most of the Universities give you some extra weeks for preparing the document called "Changes to Learning Agreement". 2) How to enrol? Our Department does not have any specific enrolment IT system. If you are interested in a specific course, you should contact the teacher who conducts it. I recommend you write an introductory e-mail and come to the first classes. Then, the teacher writes down your name and shares it with the administration office. They assign you to the course in the USOS system. Simple as it is. It is always wise to come to the first classes just to meet the professor, check the programme and the passing requirements. Remember to use the e-mail addresses in the uwr.edu.pl domain while contacting professors. 3) Who does we accept? Each course has approximately 20 free

There is no need to contact with the lecturer or the Dean's Office to enrol in the subjects – I will do this based on your documents. I will inform you as soon as possible about the necessary changes. All the essential information (including the academic year calendar, Dean's statements, changes in the subjects) will be presented on our MS Teams platform ERASMUS_2023_2024.

Uniwersytecki 9/13	402	If you prefer to meet online, no problem.	Erasmus+ students can take up any English-taught courses from the University list. If you want to change some courses in your LA, for the first 2 weeks you can choose between activities, so you have enough time. During the first week, you can attend as many courses you can. This is the way you can see if the content of the courses and the nature of the teacher respond to your expectation. During the second week, you attend only these courses which you will decide to follow the whole semester. In order to sign up for a given course, you need to give your name and your student number to the teacher. Timetables you will find here: https://international.uni.wroc.pl/en/incoming-exchange-students/courses

However, if you have some courses you're especially keen on attending, I would advise to contact the chosen Professors beforehand and write to them in an e-mail that you would like to register for the course, in order to secure a spot. To find the Professor's e-mail address, you can use our University's Employee's Search Engine: https://old.uni.wroc.pl/en/search-for-employees/ Alternatively, if you log in to your UWr's Office365 account and open Outlook, you will be able to just start typing in the surname of the Professor and Outlook should suggest an e-mail address.
